Rogers Bros. Seed Co.

• Breeders and Growers •

Chicago, Illinois • U. S. A.

I N this little booklet we have combined a ready reference of the main characteristics of the seeds we grow together with a convenient form for your use in requesting our quotations for future contract delivery.

We hope you will find it useful for both purposes and we will be glad to supply you with additional copies as needed.

Please insert in the left hand column the number of pounds of each variety on which you wish quotation, and do not fail to sign in the place provided on the last page—your firm's name, your post office address, and the point to which shipment would be made.

Mail the book to us—it will be promptly priced and returned together with another copy for your future use.

QUALITY

All of our peas and beans are grown in the West, in a dry climate under irrigation where there is the greatest freedom from disease. The stock seed has been bred up to a high degree of perfection and is backed by the accumulated experience of over a half century as Growers specializing in the growing of Peas and Beans.

Every ear of our sweet corn seed stock is field selected just after the eating or canning stage. Earliness, type, uniformity, and stalk receive careful consideration and in addition we carry an annual program of hybridizing and top crossing in our Trial Grounds.
